SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS TWO MAJOR NEW DEAL ACTS, OKERS WASHINGTON WAGE PLAN

COUNCIL WILL STUDY PLAN APRIL 5

Organization Would Be Similar to That for L. A. Territory

A drive to organize employees of Orange county retail stores in a union was under way today. The Journal learned that the Orange County Central Labor Council will discuss the subject at a meeting to be held in the local labor temple a week from tonight.

Norris Stone, president of the labor council, said today his organization has been considering organization of retail store employees, and will bring the matter up as an order of business next Monday night.

Stone indicated the proposed setup here would be similar to the one being organized in Los Angeles. The Orange county union, he said, would be under the same international.

One of the main points in the program would require all retail store clerks to join the Department Store Employees' union, and another point would prohibit employers from hiring anybody who is not a member of the union, or who will not join it.

The union, its Los Angeles promoters propose, must be recognized as the sole collective bargaining agent for the employees, and a steward for the union must be set up in each division of the store to adjust disputes. No employee may be discharged without what the union officials consider a good cause.

Other requirements in the program provided:

A day's work shall be done in eight consecutive hours within nine hours. There must be no split shifts. Five days' work shall constitute a week. Employees must be paid weekly instead of bi-monthly.

The basic weekly wage shall be at least $25. Those now receiving $25 must be paid 15 per cent more. The quota system must be abolished but commissions are to be continued. Overtime is to be paid for at time and a half rate.

Each employee shall receive two weeks' vacation annually with full pay. Anyone employed for three months or more, outside the Christmas season, must be on the permanent payroll and must be granted a vacation with pay. Six dollars shall be the minimum for temporary workers. If a worker is called to the store he must be paid a full day's pay no matter how long he works.

DEATH TAKES EX-SENATOR

BOSTON. (AP)—William Morgan Butler, 76, former United States senator from Massachusetts and textile corporation executive, died today at his home here.

Butler, with John McDonough of Boston, was a co-receiver for the Hoosac Mills Corporation of which he had been president.

With McDonough, Butler challenged the processing tax provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment act and obtained a ruling from the supreme court declaring the processing tax unconstitutional.

Butler served as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1924 and managed President Calvin Coolidge's campaign at that time. He was appointed U. S. Senator from Massachusetts Nov. 13, 1924, for the term ending in November, 1926.

Will Follow Trail of Old Fighters

The historic trail followed by Gen. Stephen W. Kearny through Orange county in 1847 will be reblazed, The Journal learned today. Orders went out from the war department at Washington today for army engineers to reblaze the route followed by General Kearny in 1846-47 on his historic march from Fort Leavenworth to help wrest California from the Mexicans. The trail will lead through many miles of Orange county.

LEWIS QUILTS CONFERENCE

Leaves Three Aides To Settle Difficulties With Chrysler

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—High officials of the Chrysler Corp. and the United Automobile Workers renewed their attack on the deadlocked issue of exclusive recognition, underwritten by the departure of John L. Lewis.

Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the Chrysler board, was present when the conference re-assembled for their tenth session this afternoon. The conference entered its sixth day with the possibility that an agreement may be reached "at any time," Governor Frank Murphy said the representatives of the corporation and the union are not far apart.

When Lewis, generalissimo of the Committee for Industrial Organization, left for New York last night, he said he had arranged with Homer Martin, UAW president, Less Pressman, general counsel of the CIO, and Richard T. Frankenstein, major dome of the Chrysler strikes, to advise him by telephone of all developments.

"They have the powers necessary to negotiate a settlement of the strike," he said.

Lewis said he would return to Lansing Wednesday or Thursday if the Chrysler settlement had not been arranged then.

200 PLOTTERS PUT TO DEATH

HSINKING, Manchoukuo. (AP)—Almost 200 Manchurians in the Antung province, the government disclosed today, have been executed or sentenced to long prison terms for plotting against the Japanese and Manchoukuoan governments.

Official announcement of the conspiracy, which was discovered last August, was withheld by the government until today. Those involved in the plot were described as members of a secret revolutionary society with branches in Peking and Nanking, China.

One Arrested in $5000 Bunco Deal

Arrested in Los Angeles today on a charge of grand larceny, George K. Linderman was held under $5000 bail in the county jail today as the result of an asserted bunco deal.

Linderman is charged with bilking W. M. Smith, Santa Ana packing house manager, out of $5000 last December. He was arrested in Los Angeles by Deputy Sheriff A. W. Fullerton and James Workman. Preliminary hearing was set for April 13.

out reward, however, for Mrs. Roosevelt put in her appearance before 10 a. m. to be greeted by a clamorous "howdy-do" from the gay crowd of youngsters dressed in bright snow suits and warm mufflers. With her was her 4-year-old grandson, William Donner Roosevelt.

Little "Bill" wore a brown snowsuit, blue coat and beret and carried a fuzz elephant. It was his first visit to an egg rolling.

When a little girl shyly offered the First Lady an egg, Mrs. Roosevelt gave it to Bill.

"Do I eat it?" he asked.

"Not just now," his grandmother said.

Regulations limited admission to children under 10 and adults accompanying them, but the general public was invited to enter the grounds in the late afternoon for a marine band concert.

STORES SEEK TO IMPROVE SERVICE

Ask Suggestions From Women; New Hours on Closing Discussed

Santa Ana merchants want to know if Mrs. Housewife has any suggestions for the improvement of service to her. And they are considering new uniform closing hours.

And for this reason the merchants are seriously considering a comprehensive house-to-house canvass in the city to question housewives.

The matter will be discussed at a meeting of the retail division of the chamber of commerce Wednesday morning. At that time merchants are expected to outline a program for the survey.

At the same time they will discuss a new proposal for establishing uniform closing hours for business establishments of the city. The plan is to shorten the hours local stores are open, it was said.

Walter Swanberger, vice chairman of the retail division, said today that merchants of the city for some time have been keenly interested in having local stores adopt uniform closing hours. This has never been done, he said. It is felt that uniform hours will work to the advantage of both merchant and shopper.

HIGHLANDS, Calif. (AP)—Army fliers today located the wreckage of an army plane that crashed in a storm near here Saturday night, carrying Lieut. Robert C. Love of Los Angeles and Private Emory J. Parsons of Mineola, Tex., to their deaths. The plane crashed into a tree on the snow line of the San Bernardino mountains, near the City Creek CCC camp.

Blast Survivors Back to School

NEW LONDON, Tex. (AP)—Survivors of the nation's worst school disaster were called back to makeshift classes today within sight of the blackened ruins where an explosion of accumulated gas killed 456 classmates and teachers March 18.

A gymnasium, band house and cafeteria served the little group of 200 pupils and 19 teachers in place of the destroyed high school, once commodious main unit of the "million dollar campus that oil built."

Tomorrow members of a committee organized to select an appropriate memorial will meet and make their decision. Funds from all over the country have been pouring in.

Stalin in Stern Lecture to Reds

MOSCOW. (AP)—In one of the sternest lectures to the Communist party in many years, Joseph Stalin warned Russia today to stiffen the vigilance of the revolution and beware of "dizziness from success."

The speech, delivered by Stalin March 3 before the central committee of the Communist party and published only late last night, was linked in some circles with the increased demand for party self-criticism as a bid for national support in the forthcoming elections when the secret ballot will be inaugurated.

POLIO PROBE IS ASSURED

County Authorizes State Commission to Survey Local Hospital

Plans for investigation of the Orange County hospital in regard to facilities for caring for polio-stricken nurses marched forward today.

The investigation will be made at the request of Orange county officials, who want to bring two nurses stricken with polio in the epidemic of 1934, back from private institutions to the county hospital as an economy measure.

The Journal learned today from County Purchasing Agent Eugene Gieson that Orange county has authorized the state industrial accident commission to appoint two Los Angeles medical men to investigate the Orange county hospital.

In the authorization, agreement is made for Orange county to pay the expenses of the investigation by the medical authorities from Los Angeles. Commissioner Charles Son, of the accident commission, previously had told The Journal he would appoint the medical men as soon as the authorization was received. Son now is in Sacramento and will not return until Wednesday.

Both of the nurses the board of supervisors want to bring back to the county hospital have refused to return. The supervisors seek to return Mary Booher, now in Los Angeles Orthopedic hospital, and Grace Griggs, now in the Fullerton Cottage hospital, to the county hospital.

It is claimed by county officials here that all necessary facilities for the treatment of polio now have been installed at the county hospital. The two medical men to be appointed will investigate this phase of the situation. They also will interview the two nurses, to determine whether they want to be returned to the county hospital and what the effect on their health would be if they are returned unwillingly.

URGE LARGER FIRE FORCE IN S. A.

Underwriters' Board in Report Today Advises Other Changes

The National Board of Fire Underwriters today urged an increase in Santa Ana's fire fighting force. It also recommended that appointments and promotions be made under civil service rules.

These recommendations, among others, were made in a comprehensive report on the city of Santa Ana by the board's committee on fire prevention and engineering standards.

Projects Under Way In regard to water supply the report recommended that four-inch mains used for hydrant supply be replaced, that dead ends be eliminated where practical, as well as long, unsupported lines of pipe cross-connected, and that additional hydrants be installed so there will be one hydrant to each 80,000 square feet in high value districts and one to each 110,000 square feet elsewhere.

Many of the recommendations on water supply are being carried out by projects now under way.

The report further suggested that fire alarm headquarters be placed in a fireproof building or addition to the station, that additional alarm boxes be installed. It was urged that circuits be placed underground when possible.

It was urged that owners of defectively constructed buildings, which are so located as to form conflagration areas, be required to protect all floor, exposed window and party wall openings, and that automatic sprinkler equipment be required in all buildings which might act as conflagration breeders.

Fire insurance rates in Santa Ana, based on fire losses in the past, are substantially lower than in many other Southern cities, some of them with larger departments than Santa Ana's. The city always has been known in recent years as one in which fire losses are kept to a minimum.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Capt. Edward Mullens of the homicide squad investigating the triple slaying of a young artist's model, her mother, and a man roomer Saturday night, announced today two bloodstained handkerchiefs had been found in the rooms of a man identified as George Guert, 46, being held for questioning.

Veronica Gedeon, 20-year-old model, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, 54, were strangled and beaten to death. The mother was ravished. Frank Byrnes, 35, waiter and bartender, who had been renting a room in the Gedeon apartment for five weeks, was stabbed in the head.

Stamps Approval On Moratorium, Rail Labor Laws

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The supreme court upheld two major acts of the Roosevelt administration today and affirmed the principle of state regulation of minimum wages for women. Reversing its previous stand on the question of state control of minimum wages, the high tribunal upheld the constitutionality of the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women. It also upheld the validity of the railway labor and the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage acts.

The major decision of the 5-to-4 opinion on the Washington law was delivered by Chief Justice Hughes, who referred to a 14-year-old decision which held unconstitutional a District of Columbia minimum wage act for women.

This act, Adkins vs. Children's Hospital, has formed the basis for recent minimum wage rulings of the supreme court, which had consistently decided against federal as well as state efforts to guarantee minimum wages.

"Our conclusion," said the chief justice today, "is that the case of Adkins vs. Children's Hospital should be, and it is, overruled. The judgment of the supreme court of the state of Washington is affirmed."

Its decision holding unconstitutional the New York minimum wage law for women had caused President Roosevelt to say that a "no man's land" had been established in which neither the state nor the federal government could function.

Other Acts Oked Justice Roberts, who voted against the New York statute, today supported similar legislation enacted by Washington state.

In two other decisions the tribunal unanimously upheld the New Deal railroad labor law, which guarantees collective bargaining for railway workers, and the Frazier-Lemke act which authorizes a three-year moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures.

Only two years ago the court had unanimously declared unconstitutional a Frazier-Lemke act granting a five-year moratorium. The amended legislation was intended to meet court objections that the original law took property without due process of law.

At 2:25 p. m. the court, which had been delivering opinions since noon, recessed until 3 p. m., when, it was announced, it would continue delivering decisions. This (See DECISIONS, Page 2)

ARREST ONE IN STAB CASE

Lester E. Grove, resident of an East First street auto court, was in the county hospital today under treatment for a deep stab wound in his back, and W. W. Houseman, 69, 522 North Artesia street, was in the county jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Grove was brought by his wife to the No. 1 fire station last night, bleeding from the stab wound, and was given first aid and taken to the hospital. Police, after talking with Mrs. Grove, arrested Houseman at his home.

Grove refused to give his name or address at the hospital, but attaches obtained his identification from a driver's license.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at Melrose Abbey, with Brown and Wagner, funeral directors, in charge. The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate at the services.

Entombment in the mausoleum will follow the funeral services.

Mr. Rutledge is the first of 15 past presidents of the Santa Ana chamber to pass on.

Entombment in the mausoleum will follow the funeral services.

White House Lawn 'Egged'

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Scores of children whose breath blew frostily into the chill morning gathered on the White House lawn today to roll innumerable Easter eggs as the guests of the nation's first family.

The crowd swelled as the day progressed toward its climax—the appearance of the President at 3 o'clock.

The early arrivals were not without reward, however, for Mrs. Roosevelt put in her appearance before 10 a. m. to be greeted by a clamorous "howdy-do" from the gay crowd of youngsters dressed in bright snow suits and warm mufflers. With her was her 4-year-old grandson, William Donner Roosevelt.

Little "Bill" wore a brown snowsuit, blue coat and beret and carried a fuzz elephant. It was his first visit to an egg rolling.

Holly Employees to Get Wage Boost
Effective April 1, wages of employees of the Holly Sugar company will be increased. The Journal learned today.

The salary boost will affect about 75 employees, it was learned. Officials of the company did not announce the extent of the wage increases, but it was understood that the revision affected all employees.

At the same time it was learned that the annual sugar campaign at the Holly plant south of Santa Ana will be delayed this year. Usually the campaign begins in August, but the heavy rains of this year have delayed plantings of sugar beets.

action was regarded by officials as a rarely used but not unusual step in court procedure.

The court room was filled with a colorful crowd of visitors who came to the capital for the Easter week-end and remained to visit the marble temple of justice on Capitol Hill.

Many were drawn by the widespread belief that the court would take some action on the Wagner national labor relations act, the most important pending legislation before the tribunal.

Defer Wagner Ruling
But the court deferred until at least next week a final decision on the constitutionality of the Wagner act.

With Hughes in upholding the Washington act were Justices Stone, Brandies, Cardozo and Roberts. Dissenting were Justices Butler, Van Devanter, Sutherland and McReynolds.

First of the major opinions to come down was that concerning the railway labor act. Justice Stone read the unanimous opinion which held the government acted constitutionally in requiring that railroads engage in collective bargaining with their employees in an attempt to settle disputes.

Decision Unanimous
The case originated with the Virginian Railway Company, which had brought suit against a group of its employees who belonged to an American Federation of Labor union. Affirming a decision of the fourth circuit court of appeals, the high tribunal directed the railroad to engage in collective bargaining.

Justice Brandies delivered the court's unanimous decision declaring constitutional the revised Frazier-Lemke act which authorized a three-year moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures. The opinion said the legislation made "no unreasonable modification of the mortgagee's right and hence are valid."

The decision was reached in a case brought by Robert Page Wright, Virginia farmer, against the Vinton branch of the Mountain Trust Bank of Roanoke, Va.

Other Decisions
The first decision of the court today held valid a Washington state tax of 2 per cent on articles brought into the state for use in constructing Grand Coulee dam, a federal power project. Companies constructing the dam contended the tax was a burden on interstate commerce. Justice Cardozo read the decision to which Justices McReynolds and Butler dissented.

The government won its fight to punish George W. Norris, Broken Bow, Neb., grocer, for perjury as a result of his 1930 primary campaign against Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska.

Unanimously the court decided, in an opinion presented by Justice Roberts, that the ruling of the eighth circuit court of appeals should be reversed. That court had ordered a new trial to determine whether the grocer had purged himself of false testimony. The court in which he was originally tried on the perjury charge has sentenced him to three months in jail and fined him $100.

Firearms Act Upheld
Likewise held constitutional was the 1934 national firearms act requiring that dealers in firearms register with the collector of internal revenue and pay a special tax of $200 a year.

The court said "a tax is not any less a tax because it has a regulatory effect." The act has been considered by government officials as a means to regulating traffic in arms.

The court consented to decide within the next few weeks the constitutionality of the federal social security act.

G. O. P. Forces in House Hit by Rep. Focht's Death

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The death of Rep. Benjamin K. Focht, a Lewisburg, Pa., left Republican forces in the house today the smallest in the party's history.

Republican representation was reduced to 89 by the November election. Focht's death Saturday night after a heart attack cut the party's strength to 88.

Focht, who was 74, had represented the 18th Pennsylvania district for 10 terms.

Focht's death was the fifth in the present congress. Others were Representative Carey, Kentucky; Montague, Virginia; Stubbs, California; and Buchanan, Texas, all Democrats.

College Youth Fails To 'Flame' at Newport

By BRICK GAINES

The young guy in a palm beach suit started kicking on the jail door.

He wanted a writ of habeas corpus. He wanted five doctors. He wanted cigars. He was a law student and knew his rights.

A tough looking policeman told him to shut up. So he started the recital all over again. Five doctors, cigars, writ—

He was one of nine young men in Newport's city jail, arrested on misdemeanor charges. At Balboa, 10,000 more celebrated the annual Collegiate Week visitation to the beach town. They drank, some. They whooped and howled, quite a bit. But they weren't nearly as bad as painted.

No Excitement
Radio car 44 was due to be in the thick of things from 10 o'clock to midnight Saturday, so I went along. We chased parked cars from alleys, warned parties against drinking on the streets and chased neekers away from the peninsula. Exciting? Phooey!

Up to midnight, an average of about one youth out of 1000 had been hauled to the Newport brig. A great number had been drinking, but not too much. Patrolmen wandering through the crowds, kept order, and state board of

EASTER TRUCE IN NAME JUDGE IN 'BIAS' CASE

ON SPANISH BATTLE-GROUNDS, (AP)—The crash of cannonade and the fierce crackle of rifle fire broke an Easter truce of fatigue today and signaled general attacks—on well separated fronts—by government and insurgent armies of Spain.

Moving in a 36-mile arrowhead salient, government armies, from the historic Escorial Heights west of Madrid, menaced Ovila, vital insurgent headquarters.

To the south, near Pozoblanco, a mobile army of Moorish troopers screened a two-sided insurgent advance on the rich mercury and coal mining lands of Ciudad Real province.

STRICKEN SHIP STILL AFLOAT

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The stricken freighter Volunteer apparently was winning its fight early today against a leaky hull and defective pumps, radio messages intercepted here indicated.

Mackay Radio reported a message from the liner Empress of Canada said the Volunteer was striving to make Kobe under its own power. The message said the British motorship Fresno City, which sped 240 miles under forced draft to the aid of the Volunteer, had resumed its course to Los Angeles.

The Japanese freighter Uyo Maru was reported to be standing by the Volunteer, which carried a crew of 37 and two passengers.

College Youth Fails To 'Flame' at Newport

By BRICK GAINES

The young guy in a palm beach suit started kicking on the jail door.

He wanted a writ of habeas corpus. He wanted five doctors. He wanted cigars. He was a law student and knew his rights.

A tough looking policeman told him to shut up. So he started the recital all over again. Five doctors, cigars, writ—

He was one of nine young men in Newport's city jail, arrested on misdemeanor charges. At Balboa, 10,000 more celebrated the annual Collegiate Week visitation to the beach town. They drank, some. They whooped and howled, quite a bit. But they weren't nearly as bad as painted.

No Excitement
Radio car 44 was due to be in the thick of things from 10 o'clock to midnight Saturday, so I went along. We chased parked cars from alleys, warned parties against drinking on the streets and chased neekers away from the peninsula. Exciting? Phooey!

Up to midnight, an average of about one youth out of 1000 had been hauled to the Newport brig. A great number had been drinking, but not too much. Patrolmen wandering through the crowds, kept order, and state board of

EASTER TRUCE IN NAME JUDGE IN 'BIAS' CASE

ON SPANISH BATTLE-GROUNDS, (AP)—The crash of cannonade and the fierce crackle of rifle fire broke an Easter truce of fatigue today and signaled general attacks—on well separated fronts—by government and insurgent armies of Spain.

Moving in a 36-mile arrowhead salient, government armies, from the historic Escorial Heights west of Madrid, menaced Ovila, vital insurgent headquarters.

To the south, near Pozoblanco, a mobile army of Moorish troopers screened a two-sided insurgent advance on the rich mercury and coal mining lands of Ciudad Real province.

STRICKEN SHIP STILL AFLOAT

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The stricken freighter Volunteer apparently was winning its fight early today against a leaky hull and defective pumps, radio messages intercepted here indicated.

Mackay Radio reported a message from the liner Empress of Canada said the Volunteer was striving to make Kobe under its own power. The message said the British motorship Fresno City, which sped 240 miles under forced draft to the aid of the Volunteer, had resumed its course to Los Angeles.

The Japanese freighter Uyo Maru was reported to be standing by the Volunteer, which carried a crew of 37 and two passengers.

MORE ABOUT PARKING

naires will form an accurate basis for action to be recommended for a speedy and satisfactory solution to this problem. Questions to be asked of the merchants and professional men include:

Do you or your employees park your cars on the downtown streets all day, within a radius of three blocks from Fourth and Broadway and Fourth and Main streets? If so, approximately how many cars?

Would you voluntarily support a plan to keep employer and employee cars from the streets in the business section? Do you or your employees use parking lot facilities? For how many cars?

Would you favor a plan to validate your customers' tickets from parking lots at a small nominal cost? What amount would you be willing to pay as a parking lot fee? Do you favor parallel or diagonal parking on the main streets? Do you favor parking meters? If so, a trial in limited areas? Full coverage of business section?

Twelve captains were named today to carry out the plan. These men will see that every merchant and professional man answers the questionnaires. The captains are Walter Swanberger, Leonard Gorman, Don Harwood, F. A. Jones, Fred Newcomb, Hale T. Barker, Lester Carden, Carl Stein, Harry Hanson, Sam Hurwitz, J. C. Turner and Fred McCandless.

Thieves Get $165 From Sleeping Pair

Burglars in the Anaheim district Saturday night took currency and watches valued at $165 from trousers pockets of two men while the owners slept.

The residence of S. A. McGraw at Romeyia and Euclid avenues was entered early yesterday through a back door. McGraw told sheriff's officers, and the burglar took between $40 and $50 in currency from McGraw's pockets, in addition to a watch, chain and cigar lighter valued at $60.

Apparently the same man entered the A. L. Schutz residence nearby and took $20 from Schutz' trousers pocket and a wrist watch valued at $35, according to officers.

TO ORGANIZE GROCERS IN COUNTY

Orange county retail grocers were being organized under a unit of the Southern California Retail Grocers' association today.

The Journal learned that E. F. Owen, field representative of the Southern California organization, is working on the organization plans in Orange county. Many of the county grocers are signing up with the organization, it was learned.

Ben Manker, manager of the Smart and Final wholesale grocery firm, confirmed the fact that the organization work here is under way.

Manker said the Orange county organization will work under the Los Angeles district office. Previous efforts to organize the retail grocers of Orange county have failed, he said, because of the prohibitive costs of maintaining offices here. Under the new plan there will be no county offices, but monthly meetings will be held.

The main objective of the organization is to have representation at Sacramento, Manker said. Many bills vitally affecting retail grocers are scheduled to come before the state legislature for action, and the grocers want to keep track of the situation, it was said.

Accuse Four of Drunken Driving

Four drivers were booked at the county jail on drunk driving charges over the week-end, following arrest by police, sheriff's officers, and highway patrolmen.

Clarence LeRoy Corcoran, 27-year-old Orange contractor, was booked by highway patrol officers following a collision on South Main street last night. Walter Ruff, 23, Orange bookkeeper, was booked early yesterday by Orange police, and Paul Gonzales, 21-year-old Orange laborer, by Orange officers early today. Santa Ana police booked Bert Madox, 50, Tustin painter, early yesterday after arresting him on West Fourth street. He was later released on $200 bail to appear in city court here today.

Cooperation in Program Of AAA Will Benefit Local Growers

By the end of March, Orange county farmers will have received from $30,000 to $33,000 for their cooperation in the 1936 AAA program, Max Cary, assistant farm advisor, reported today.

About 750 individual farmers participated. The sign-up for the 1937 agricultural conservation program is now under way, with a survey of land uses just completed.

Starting next week a series of educational meetings will be held to acquaint farmers with the 1937 program.

Scovel's court. Foreclosures were against Jessie E. Reed for $2077.54; against H. A. Todd for $1768.04, and against R. G. Peck for $1955.34.

Mrs. Maria Valdez, Santa Ana, today asked Superior Judge G. K. Scovel to appoint her guardian of her son, Joaquin, 11 years of age, in order to administer a $500 judgment he received in court last week. The youth was awarded $1525 from Railway Express agency for an automobile accident, but the greater proportion of the award went to pay court and other costs, the petition indicated.

Mrs. Florence M. Ford of Escondido today applied for letters of administration of the estate of her son, Chester Raymond Ford, who died in Orange county in 1931 at the age of 11 years. The youth had property interests amounting to $1500, the petition stated.

The auto was owned by E. S. Burwell.

Having reached the legal age of 21 years, Jesse Edward Holderbach, jr., today sought in superior court to recover more than $2000 in oil royalties which he declared had been taken from him while he was a minor.

At his request Superior Judge G. K. Scovel cited John H. Mosley to appear in court April 9 to show any reason why he should not account for the royalties and turn over Holderbach's claimed share.

The youth charged that he was entitled to a 3-20 interest in royalties from three lots in Richfield, which had returned more than $13,500 in royalties. He said Mosley, owner of a partial interest, had taken all royalties and converted them to his own use.

STEINKE SEEKS FOURTH MAT WIN TONIGHT

Column Left

Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Fullerton won the National league batting crown at .385 with the Pittsburgh Pirates two years ago, and the sterling shortstop may be headed for the heights again in '37. All he did Saturday was to blast out two home runs and a single while the Pirates wrecked the Chicago Cubs 10-2 at Wrigley field.

Louie Novikoff (Neva to you) is operating in left field, and batting cleanup for the Los Angeles Angels' rookies, who are slated for Ponca City, Okla. of the Western Association. Huntington Beach's "Mad Russian" of softball fame connected for two solid drives, but both were flagged by alert outfielders in the Angels' 4-3 victory over the Navy all-stars at Long Beach Saturday.

During the California state badminton championships, in which Santa Ana's Twila Heath teamed with Velma Dunn of Pasadena to capture women's doubles at Oakland last week, the tournament director was asked by a news service to explain the sport. Said he: "The shuttlecock or bird is exactly like a tennis ball... but not quite! Instead of being round, it is a Spanish cork on which feathers from Czechoslovakian geese are bound with kid leather. The bird flies exactly like a ball... but not quite! Instead of bouncing, it drops almost straight down as soon as it comes out, falling like a sash weight."

"The forehead is exactly like a tennis shot... but not quite! Instead of a full-arm swing for a follow-through, it is a sharp wrist snap. The backhand is exactly like a squash racket's shot... but not quite! Instead of the elbow being next to the body, it is kept away as much as possible. The court looks exactly like a tennis court... but not quite! Instead of being next to the net, the service courts are away from it!"

Mrs. Anne Vrana O'Brien of Huntington Beach, who represented Uncle Sam as a hurdler in the '36 Olympics at Berlin, plans to concentrate on high jumping, too. She already has attained 4 ft. 11 in. in the cross-bar event with the old "scissors" style.

Bill Hawkins, the ex-Saint great who now ranks as Stanford's No. 1 hurdler, picked up five points for the Indians with a 15.5 second flight of high sticks against U. C. L. A. ... Tom Berkeley, Fullerton's springy-legged negro, scored three second places for the Bruins while they fell in a dual meet, 83-34. He extended Hawkins in the high hurdles, ran second in a 24.1 flight of low hurdles, and high-jumped 6 ft. even. ... Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana city champion, won his singles match, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4, and paired with Jack Kneemeyer to win in doubles, 8-6, 6-4, to aid U. S. C.'s tennis varsity in turning back Stanford, 8-1.

Arkansas Family Hurt in Collision Between Bus and Light Car

An Arkansas family of four was being treated at Fullerton general hospital today for injuries suffered when their light automobile collided with a heavy bus carrying members of the Portland baseball team around 5:30 p. m. yesterday. Members of the Portland team, who were returning to their Fullerton headquarters after an exhibition game with Seattle at Santa Monica, escaped injury in the crash, which occurred on West Commonwealth about a mile out of Fullerton. The players left the bus, and were brought to training quarters in police cars.

Tom Presley of Alabama, Ark., his wife and two small children, riding in the light automobile, received cuts and bruises, and are under the care of a Brea physician.

Loser in the Saturday game, 8 to 4, the Portlanders drove out a 14 to 2 victory yesterday with the Coscararts accounting for nine of the tallies.

Steve hit a homer, two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate, while Pete hit two homers, one with the bases full, and a double.

They collected 10 and had a 5-to-2 lead in the fifth inning when they proceeded to throw the game away.

ORLANDO. (P)—The Washington Nationals hoped to start a new winning streak today at the expense of Montreal of the International league. After taking eight straight exhibition games, the Nationals were defeated, 13-12, yesterday by the Boston Red Sox.

SOLONS HEAD GRAPEFRUIT LEAGUE

NEW YORK. (P)—Three American league teams, the Washington Senators, the New York Yankees, and the Cleveland Indians, took over the first three places in the Grapefruit league during the past week.

The Senators jumped from fourth place to first with an 800 average while the Yankees, who have played more exhibition games than any other team, 14, and who have scored the most runs, 86, are second with 11 victories against three defeats for a mark of .786.

The Indians, third for the second straight week, have an average of .778.

Four clubs, "Them Brooklyn's," the St. Louis Browns, the Chicago White Sox, and the Pittsburgh Pirates are tied for fourth place. The Dodgers brought joy to the hearts of the flatbush faithful by winning five straight games and assuming the won and lost record, if not the stature, of a pennant contender.

The New York Giants dropped from second to fifth in the standings after a disastrous week in which Col. Bill Terry's boys lost three times.

The Boston Bees have the melancholy distinction of yielding 66 runs, tops for the league. Besides getting a hold on the first three places, the American league teams went far ahead in inter-league warfare. Junior circuit clubs have won 22 out of 33 games.

Red Hill Must Score 14 Points Over Redlands To Capture Title

DIVISIONAL STANDINGS

| Mt. Meadows | 5 | 5 | .500 |
| Redlands | 3 | 7 | .300 |

Can Red Hill score 14 points at Redlands next Sunday? That was the question pondered by Santa Ana Country club's crack golfers today after their final bid for the Southern California inter-club golf title, group two, with a 14-7 win from Mountain Meadows here yesterday.

The victory placed Dr. Garland C. Ross' local contingent 13 1/2 points in the lead, and showed Red Hill just what the Santa Ana rivals must shoot in their postponed match with Redlands' weak outfit.

If Redlands, playing on its home course can score eight or more points over Red Hill, Santa Ana will annex the title and the right to enter the Southern California playoff.

Mt. Meadows flashed an improved attack here, and it was difficult for Santa Ana to overcome a staggering handicap of 26 holes. Outstanding was the feat of J. K. McDonald and young Elmer Curry in gaining 1 1/2 points in the No. 6 bracket after spotting the Mt. Meadows' team eight holes.

Jack Robertson, Huntington Beach community champion, and Ed A. 74, and Dick Ewert, Santa Ana champion, a 76 for low scores.

Jack Robertson and Dick Ewert (SA), 2; Jack Holbrook and Sam Daniels (MM), 1. Ed Holmes, Jr., and W. W. Foote (SA), 2 1/2; A. H. Hoel and M. Vickery (MM), 1/2.

Warren Fletcher and H. L. Robinson (SA), 1/2; E. Hathaway and L. Rothbottom (MM), 2 1/2.

Score—Santa Ana 14, Mt. Meadows 7.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK. (P)—Note to American league batters: Umpire Charlie Johnson who has been watching him in Florida, says Lefty Gomez is 50 per cent better pitcher than last year.

Boston's Bees may go to Bradenton, where the Cards formerly trained, if Bob Quinn decides against returning to St. Petersburg.

Les Etter, who used to do a Max Schmeling grand job ballyhooing Minnesota's Golden Gophers, will be back on the firing line next fall. ... The witch-hunt of Eddy Bassett has Burlington Grimes and Co. worrying. ... Big leaguers who have seen the Bees this spring say Vince DiMaggio isn't in Joe's class as a hitter.

Max Schmeling has made two trips from Germany to try to land the Braddock fight, and may make a third. ... If so, the ocean mileage will total about 18,000 miles. ... Clyde Castleman, who just will not get in shape, has been handed the dunce cap by Bill Terry, and left with the Jersey City club to think things over. ... Connie Mack may bring Ralph Kress and Dusty Cooke back to the American league from Minneapolis if the price is right. ... Ernie Lombardi, the Reds' big catcher, is expected to be traded. Of 14 outstanding Italians in the majors, eight hail from San Francisco and vicinity.

Lou Gehrig is taking no chances with his eyes this year. ... He's wearing sun glasses every minute he isn't on the ball field. Those who know their baseball say old Bill McKechnie of the Bees is one of the three smartest managers in the big time, and that Charlie Dressen of the Reds is going to make it a foursome.

Kid Chocolate continues to be a big box office attraction in the small clubs up and down the New York subway circuit. ... When he isn't talking baseball, Jojo Moore of the Giants will spend hours telling you how Sammy Baugh of Texas Christian can throw a football. ... Rogers Hornsby will use Joe Vosmik, former Indian, in the cleanup spot for the Browns this year. ... If Bob Quinn of the Bees had his choice of all the major league franchises, he'd select you guessed it—Brooklyn. ... "Best baseball town in the country," he says. ... That much talked of deal which would have sent the temperamental Wes Ferrell from the Red Sox to Detroit is definitely off. ... Chicago sheets say the Cubs are looking about for another training camp after all the bad weather at Catalina Island this year. ... Bill Delancey, former Cleveland pitcher, now managing Albuquerque in the Arizona-Texas league is making a fine health comeback and hopes to be back in the majors in another year. He spent the past year in Arizona.

Braddock-Louis-Schmeling Squabble Nears Courtroom

NEWARK, N. J. (P)—Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock today was served with a court order designed to prevent his bout with Joe Louis at Chicago June 22 until he first has gone through with a championship defense against Max Schmeling in New York June 3.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK. (P)—Whether or not Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock carries out his announced program of appearing at his attorney's office and accepting service of "them papers," it seems certain the various factions in the fight muddle will finish their battles in a courtroom with John Law as referee.

The papers concern Madison Square Garden's effort to force Braddock to give up his bout with Joe Louis at Chicago June 22 and concentrate on a fight with Max Schmeling here June 3.

Three separate proposals are under consideration and the latest possibility seems to be that Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, has decided to reconsider Schmeling's offer of $350,000 for a bout in Berlin as a possible "out" in case affairs on this side of the ocean become too involved.

Here are the various announcements that have come to light in the past two days:

(1) Joe Gould says Braddock will accept service of the court order obtained by Madison Square Garden, requiring him to show cause on April 5 why he should fight in a courtroom with John Law as referee.

The crowd, gathered as much to see the spectacular Luisetti as the game itself, saw the all-American eager break from the tight defensive net four times for lightning baskets in the first half. He counted 10 points to make his total 18 for the two games. His teammate, Turner, tied him for high Stanford scores were Calderwood with 15 and Capt. Dinty Moore with 10.

Ivar Nelson, W. S. C. center, took playoff scoring honors with 19 for the two games.

King Kong Kox vs. Capt. Myron Cox, best two-out-of-three falls, one-hour time limit.
Iron Mike Works vs. Young Stecher, one fall, 30-minute time limit.
Bobby Coleman vs. Al Rundle, one fall, 30-minute time limit.

Although the Steinknecht-Bisignano bout gets the final spot on the four-bout offering because of the national importance of the principals, the battle between the northern badman and Nick Lutze's protegee should attract as much attention here.

Capt. Cox, handsome, well-liked and well-behaved, is exactly the opposite of King Kong, who made his debut here last week in a spectacular bout with Abie Younst, whom he defeated after one of the wildest matches seen in the local ring in many months.

Boasting a paralyzing hold of his own invention, the octopus, Capt. Cox believes he can subdue the northern mat "maniac."

Bisignano, one of the leading grapplers of the younger crop, not long ago wrestled three consecutive main events with Vincent Lopez at Los Angeles. The Italian claims a win over the Mexican star, and unquestionably is the most formidable man about to face the German giant in the Orange county ring.

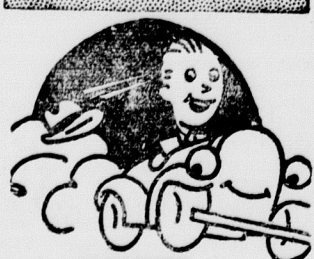

Rain or clear, the first of the four-bout card, featuring the popular Bob Coleman, who returns to local action, against Al Rundle in a rematch, will get under way at 8:30 o'clock. The box office opens at 7:15.

The special event, also a one-fall, 30-minute battle, shows Young Stecher, Orange county youth, in his third bout. Tonight Stecher meets Iron Mike Works, a rough and tumble performer, well-known hereabouts.

By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Isn't it nice that springtime should finally decide to arrive on Easter Sunday? It really did, I hope, and possibility of some nice, sunshiny days faces us. Unless it rains some more!

We should have one of the most gorgeous seasons in many years, if we only get our usual warm weather from now on—Red Barnett's wildflowers should bloom profusely and give us an opportunity to rival the famed fields at Bakersfield and Arvin.

Really, with all the rain we've had, we're going to have a profusion of growth that'll keep wood-hoers busy far into summer. I'm just wondering what'd happen if we'd have several years of such wetness—would our foliage rival Oregon? Bet the country'd look better, anyway!

Down near Costa Mesa, hundreds of mushroom pickers. Especially by the old country club. The editorial appetite for those luscious tidbits has been considerably dulled in the past few days, however, by stories of dozens stricken from eating something that wasn't. So I didn't go mushroom hunting.

Speaking of mushrooms—I mean Costa Mesa—informants finally cut down that dangerous tree in the business district there. The tree that everyone bumped into, but no one'd take out.

A little boy died as the result of a collision involving that twisted trunk, and so they finally cut it down. I'm told. Which was a good idea, but a little late.

Bing Crosby, said by some to be a crooner of ability, ran afoul of Huntington Beach speedcoops last week.

Only doing 60 in a 45-mile zone. Officer Howard Rubidoux handed out a ticket which calls for a benefit performance before Judge Pann April 6.

In thinking that Crooner Crosby had better have his vocal organs in excellent shape on that date. Or else!

Perhaps they'll serve HIM a baked-ham dinner!

Incidentally, some husky raving is being done by supporters of the allegedly tenebrous darky minstrel show to be staged Friday night at Huntington Beach.

In Jim Farquhar's "News" appears a story concerning attacks of numerous horrors suffered by a number of pre-viewers which I think should be consumed by this audience, if any. Here's the truth, the whole truth, etc.

Last week during rehearsal for the gala minstrel show to be held April 2, a riot almost ensued. A small audience was present, seeking a free preview of the famed "Sons of Slap Me Down."

All went well until Interlocutor Africa started to warm up the end men; a terrific commotion broke forth and someone cried out—"Is there a doctor in the house?" One of the local "savages" rushes back in the audience and there, rolling in the aisles and screaming with laughter, were six men.

"Stop them, they're killing me," gaped one of the victims as he kicked and wriggled up and down the aisle.

The six men were given first aid and removed to their homes and practice continued, but Interlocutor Africa was plainly worried. "I'll have to tone down some of these jokes," he said. "There won't be room in the aisles for everyone on the night of the performance."

"Why, I wasn't even trying," said "Snake-eye" Terry. "Just wait until I give 'em both barrels." Everyone agreed that "Hambones" Harry Overmyer would have to ease up on some of his fast ones or the show would be turned into a riot.

We're about to have another bright spot in the county, according to word filtering in from Newport-Balboa, where Frank Miller has been preparing for some time to open the Palisade Inn, on the bluffs overlooking the bay.

You all remember the old hotel in the Corona Del Mar district—he's taken that over and is reported to have spent $25,000 on decorations. Whew! All reservations have been filled for the opening night, April 6.

I was going to say something real mean about Harry Welsh, Fullerton manager, for a well known electric company. But instead, I think I'll run one of Editor Beck's poems. Before Editor J. Dew Blanchard at Laguna or Editor Art McBride at La Habra best me to it.

Here's his latest gem:
ODE TO A NEW PAPA
Philosophic, pompous Papa,
Fascinated, fervid man,
Head protruding into cloudland,
Beatific smile on pan.
Perambulator pushing prophet,
Paregoric pouring nudge,
Night-patrolling pacifier
Keeping step with baby's wail.
Patron saint of pin and nipple,
Watching clock from dusk to dawn,
Warming milk and bottle,
Mixing melody with yawn.

BIRDS AID IN EGG HUNT Nestfull Brings Prize to Boy

LAGUNA BEACH.—Legal technicalities concerning Easter eggs still had members of the American Legion slightly groggy today, following an egg hunt yesterday in Heister park when complications arose in the person of 8-year-old Donnie Frank.

There was a prize, it seems. Sweepstakes for the most eggs found. Donnie showed up before the judges and claimed the award. But he didn't have the usual Easter eggs hidden by perspiring committee members earlier in the day. He had a bird's nest and six eggs, found at the scene of the hunt.

Legal advice was received and order restored when duplicate prizes were awarded.

FUGITIVE BRIDE

By RUTH LOUISE AYRES

Three days before Martha Halliday, daughter of a wealthy banker, is to marry Nick Garnett, playboy son of a fine old family, she overhears gossip that he is marrying her only because of the financial aid her father can give to his father. She has also heard that Nick has been following a sudden lead in the financial world about the country. Martha suddenly decides to run away from her wedding and sets out in her car, for her Aunt Genevieve's home in the next state. She gets caught in a storm of rain and is stranded. Meanwhile, Nick has arranged to meet Nita at Oakville, famed resort, where she is scheduled to dance that evening, in the Oakville Hotel Night club.

CHAPTER VII
Martha had crossed the state line. Despite the ever-increasing force of the storm, her car continued steadily on its way. She came, finally, to the detour about which the luncheon man had told her. The main highway was blocked off with red lanterns swinging on posts to warn the motorist.

Martha swung the car into the muddy detour road, her headlights picking out the ruts. "It won't be for long," she consoled herself, as she bumped slowly along, with the rain beating on her windshield and all but cutting off her vision.

Presently, she came to a railroad crossing and passed over the tracks. The road was getting muddier. The car sloshed along, going now at a snail's pace, and almost getting stuck two or three times.

"I can't make it," she decided. She swung the searchlight attached to the side of the car. To the left, it picked out an old barn. Perhaps there would be a farmhouse near.

Martha turned off the road and bumped across a field toward the barn. She rounded it and came upon a farmhouse, but the house was dark and deserted looking. Except for the sound of wind and rain, there was utter silence.

"I'll have to turn back," Martha concluded. She would just have to give up trying to reach Aunt Genevieve's tonight and drive back until she found a place where she could spend the night and, incidentally, phone her father. There seemed nothing else to do.

She turned the car, and started back toward the road. The car jerked along for a short distance. Then, suddenly, the engine went dead. She read the gauge on the dashboard. She was out of gas! How stupid of her not to have noticed! She had thought she had plenty! All her efforts to start the roadster failed. She sat back finally. What on earth would she do now? Spend the night in the car, with the storm, swirling around her?

Then, from a distance, came the sound of a train whistle. Martha had a sudden reckless idea. She climbed out of the car and started running back across the wet field toward the road. Reaching the road, she struggled along, through the mud, until she reached the railway crossing.

She could hear the train approaching. From the sound, it was evidently a freight. That was what she had hoped. Then, the headlight of the engine appeared round a curve and came slowly on. The great iron monster was almost opposite her when, to her surprise, it stopped.

She started running along the track toward the engine. It jerked and started ahead. She cried out again.

"Wait! Oh please!" The engine was abreast of her now. She ran along beside it, briars ripping her stockings. The wind tore off her hat, and the rain beat in her face.

"Help!" she called desperately, now almost out of breath. At last, the engineer heard and saw her. He again brought the engine to a halt.

"What's wrong?" he yelled. "I'm stranded!" Martha gasped. "My car—out of gas!" She suddenly burst into tears. "Well, now!" the engineer climbed down from his cabin. "Listen, sister, don't take it so hard as all that."

Finally, controlling her sobs, Martha poured out her story to him.

"Well, now, don't you worry," he said, taking her by the arm. "We won't leave you stranded here in a record-breaker storm like this."

The fireman helped from the top as Martha mounted to the cabin followed by the engineer. "All right?" the engineer asked.

"Yes," Martha said gratefully. "I was awfully scared."

"Don't blame you a bit. Now, the best we can do for you is to drop you off at Oakville, a couple of miles down the line."

"Oh, would you?"

"Well, we're going to. We'll leave you off at the Oakville hotel station. We don't make a stop there ordinarily, but there's no reason why we can't slow down in an emergency like this."

Martha smiled her appreciation, and the engineer told her where she could stand to brace herself in the narrow cabin.

"We haven't got much in the

line of parlor-car equipment in here," he chuckled.

"The train proceeded on its way slowly, until it came to a deserted, rustic station."

"Here's where you get off," the engineer told Martha. "Good luck, sister."

He helped her down, and then waved to her as he got under way again.

"Well, now, don't you worry." "Thank you!" she called after him. "Thank you so much!"

Then, she turned and surveyed her surroundings. A short distance away, was the brightly lighted hotel. She set out in its direction, following a gravelled road.

Her coat was rumpled, her hair a wet mop, and her stockings torn. She couldn't, she decided, walk into the main entrance of the fashionable Oakville Inn in this condition.

Hence, when she reached the hotel, she found her way to a side door and, entering, started down a corridor.

"Well, here you are," a voice suddenly said.

Martha stopped. Coming toward her, was a man.

"I'm the manager—Mr. Low," he said. "We didn't think you'd get here."

Martha blinked. "What do you mean?"

"The storm is so bad that very few girls would have made the effort to come—but we surely need you. The hotel is quite solidly booked, and everyone will be in the club casino tonight. It would have been particularly inconvenient to be short-handed."

Martha stared at him. Who did he think she was?

"Why, you're soaked!" he said. "You must have had a pretty tough time getting here."

"Oh, yes," said Martha.

"Well, you've come early enough so you can get rested before you go on duty. The housekeeper has your uniform. If you'll come this way, I'll show you the waitresses' quarters."

Martha started to say, "Wait—you've made a mistake. I'm not a waitress. I'm Martha Halliday, Peter Halliday's daughter. I want your best room and maid."

Then, with a start, she realized she was empty-handed. Her purse! She didn't have it! She must have left it in the car. At any rate, she was disheveled, penniless, alone.

Following Mr. Low, she went down a long corridor and through a door marked "employees."

Hors d'Oeuvres Are 'Dingle Doos', Says Maverick

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative Maury Maverick, the Texas epicurean, dipped into his linguistic ladder today for a new name for hors d'oeuvres.

"Let's call them," he said in a burst of creative pride, "dingle doos!"

Maverick was goaded into action by the hors d'oeuvres reform committee of Midwestern hotel men, which put up a loving cup for a prize.

"Americans have been bullied by that tricky name for years," he said. "Time has come for action."

This reformation of the anchovy and its dainty caviar and cheese cousins was started by Otto K. Eitel, a hotel host.

"Strong men have become stutters," wailed Eitel in Chicago, "trying to say hors d'oeuvres. Any one who invents a simple pronounceable substitute will be a public benefactor."

EDWARD LEAVES ON HOLIDAY

ENZESFELD, Austria, (AP)—Edward of Windsor, accompanied by a truckload of baggage and a police escort, departed today for a holiday at St. Wolfgang in the lake country of upper Austria.

A Vienna police official said Edward would remain at the new retreat until May 2. Then, the official said, he will depart for France, where he has tentatively arranged to occupy a chateau outside Paris.

"Americans have been bullied by that tricky name for years," he said. "Time has come for action."

This reformation of the anchovy and its dainty caviar and cheese cousins was started by Otto K. Eitel, a hotel host.

"Strong men have become stutters," wailed Eitel in Chicago, "trying to say hors d'oeuvres. Any one who invents a simple pronounceable substitute will be a public benefactor."

Aged Woman on 'Foot-Down' Strike

CLINTON, Mass. (AP)—A literal "foot-down strike" has been launched by Mrs. Lahawanda Poresky, 75-year-old business and WPA authorities.

Mrs. Poresky's action was in protest against the erection of a four-foot stone wall which she claims will extend one foot onto her property. With the wall within 12 inches of completion, by WPA workers, Mrs. Poresky placed her foot down at the wall's edge and refused to move it.

While authorities sought to persuade Mrs. Poresky to change her mind, 15 WPA laborers stood by unable to complete the job.

Rites Tuesday For Drinkwater

LONDON (AP)—The family of John Drinkwater has decided to forego formal funeral services for the British dramatist-actor who died Thursday.

The body will be cremated in London Tuesday and the ashes buried in a rural churchyard in Oxfordshire, where Drinkwater spent his youth.

While authorities sought to persuade Mrs. Poresky to change her mind, 15 WPA laborers stood by unable to complete the job.

Boy of 8 Addresses Fellow Inventors at Convention

CHICAGO, (AP)—David Suddeth, eight-year-old inventor who has taken many difficult tasks in stride, polished off the manuscript of his lecture to the national inventors congress with imperturbable calm over the week-end.

Today the young Fairfield, Iowa, inventor was to lecture and exhibit two of his inventions—a device that removes peeling from boiled potatoes and mashes them in one operation, and a window washer that cleans both panes at the same time.

As a member of the congress, he is duty bound to submit two inventions a year. At the age of two, David had mastered simple piano minuets, at three composed an opera, and at four—after a few lessons—had given a violin recital. He passed the lower grades of school in a few weeks.

A genius? No, said his mother, Mrs. Alma Suddeth, "just precocious."

Pardon Sought For Townsend

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative John Coffee of Tacoma, Wash., has appealed to President Roosevelt to grant a full pardon to Dr. Francis E. Townsend, convicted recently on contempt charges growing out of a congressional investigation into his old age pension plan.

Townsend has filed notice of appeal from a federal court sentence of 30 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Bluebirds excel most common birds in devotion to their young.

GIRL FLIER SETS NEW AIR MARK

VENTURA, (AP)—Evelyn Hudson, 28-year-old stenographer, today claimed a world record for women's solo endurance flying.

Aloft since Easter morning before dawn, the amateur aviatrix landed her light monoplane at Ventura county airport early today for a mark of 19 hours 57 minutes 14.15 seconds.

"I'd still be going, if I had more gas," said the Glendale miss.

Forty times she used a fishing line to hoist her fuel up in gallon quantities yesterday. A broken pulley prevented her from loading enough to last the night out.

Jack M. Miller, district representative of the National Aeronautical association, said no record currently exists for women flying planes less than 1000 pounds.

Miss Hudson's ship is powered by a 36-horsepower motor. Miller's clocking will be forwarded later today to Washington for consideration by N. A. A. headquarters.

No Challenge To Resurrection

"Without the Easter hope of the resurrection, our generation is doomed to pagan despair," Dr. Walter A. Maier declared yesterday in his coast-to-coast Lutheran hour broadcast.

"In a notable trend of our times, American colleges with a foundation for the discussion of immortality and the soul hereafter for the most part featured lecturers who either deny or question the resurrection."

"But these contradictions in the name of science need not disturb us for they are simply the continuation of scientific errors of the past."

"Lavoisier, one of the greatest figures in the history of chemistry, stubbornly taught that heat was a substance. Plato believed the stomach shared mental activity with the brain."

"All this, together with hundreds of other scientific theories have been disproved and these mistakes entitle us to ask: if the scientific world cannot solve questions pertaining to the teeth, stomach, brain, skull and other forces of nature that surround us, why should atheists and infidel scientists dare to deny the immortality of the soul?"

"The Rev. William Schmook, pastor of the local Trinity Lutheran church, announced today that the Lutheran hour will be broadcast again next Sunday, the final broadcast of the current series. The program will be resumed on a coast-to-coast network early next fall."

STORM WATER DRAINAGE PROBLEM PUT UP TO PROPERTY OWNERS

URGES BOOST IN DEFENSE BY AIR

Congressman Says U. S. Military Aviation Is Neglected

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard has launched a drive aimed at more airplanes in America's defense organization. This was revealed in a letter to The Journal from the congressman at Washington, D. C., in which he called attention to the $513,000,000 in the naval appropriations bill and $416,000,000 in the army bill. He showed that the appropriation for aviation is about five per cent of the total.

"If we are honestly interested in defense," said Sheppard, "only let us increase our army and navy air corps to a point where it stands second to none and eliminate further construction of expensive, outmoded machinery of defense. If we would confine the majority of our military defense of this nation to perfecting the finest air corps in the world, I am sure our present appropriations could be cut in half while defensive strength would be greatly increased and, therefore, meet the true objective of adequate national defense."

"Our woefully weak air defense is clearly shown when we note that the U. S. R. R. has an approximate total of 7000 planes in military service, Italy 5000, Germany 5000, France 4000, Great Britain 3800 while our own United States, with our tremendous coastline, has but 1200 planes in our army, and 1400 in our navy or a total of 2600 planes."

"My fear of an impending economic catastrophe resulting in war in Europe is based simply on the fact that European states are appealing to patriotic or regimented populations for increased appropriations under the guise of national defense and in some cases nations are taxed as much as 60 per cent of their total budgets for armament purposes. This kind of economy cannot continue without war or economic collapse resulting."

Hospital Is Host To Newsmen

Supervisor Harry D. Riley will entertain the Orange county newspaper publishers at a dinner at the county hospital tonight.

Orange County Weekly Newspaper association is making the occasion its regular monthly meeting, and other publishers have been invited. The group will inspect the hospital at 5:30 p. m. and have dinner later.

You Have to Know Your Law to Pick Wild Flowers

Be careful, when you go out to see the wildflowers, that you don't pick the wrong things and get into trouble, Bert Johnson, deputy agriculture commissioner, warned today.

He said that as a result of many inquiries at the commissioner's office here, he had assembled information on various laws relating to wildflowers.

"In addition to general laws relating to trespass, there are a number of state, federal and local laws fixing penalties for cutting certain species of plants," he reported.

There is no law against picking wild flowers in national forests, but the forest service discourages wanton destruction on plants. Snow plants are protected by federal regulation, and most counties, including Orange, protect yuccas.

State law prohibits cutting plants or flowers on state highway or county road rights of way. Permits are required to pick wild flowers in Imperial, San Diego, Tuolumne, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, and Riverside counties.

MRS. CRABTREE RITES TODAY

Mrs. W. E. Crabtree, widow of the late Dr. W. E. Crabtree, pastor of the Central Christian church in San Diego for 37 years, died at San Diego Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Crabtree, the last of her family, was well known in religious circles of Southern California. She was the mother of Mrs. J. A. George of Santa Ana, who died last fall. Dr. Crabtree died in 1931.

The Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the Santa Ana Christian church, conducted funeral services held in San Diego today.

No Gutters for This Inebriate

"Thank you for the use of your bed" was the note found in the George Rodgers' beach place, 507 Edgewater, when it was opened this week-end, according to police report.

Apologetic in tone, the note held at police headquarters as exhibit A, continued in printed characters to comment on the unknown guest's condition that had caused him to make use of the Rodgers' bed.

He had "gotten himself drunk" summed up the story.

Nothing had been taken from the house, police were told.

Woman Sought As Counterfeiter

A woman about 28 years old, standing 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighing around 125 pounds was being sought today by police as the person who passed a counterfeit $5 bill in payment for groceries Saturday afternoon.

G. M. Hicks, market proprietor at Second and Broadway, reported the bill to police Saturday night.

NAVAL BASE OFF LOCAL COAST

Orange county is to have a secret war laboratory close to its shores. Announcement today indicated San Clemente island, 60 miles south of San Pedro, is to become the navy's secret, full-scale peace-time war laboratory.

This development was indicated in a navy department order establishing the island as the United States fleet training base under control of the commander in chief of the fleet.

"The base will be organized and administered as a unit of the United States Fleet and assigned to the base force," says the order, which becomes effective July 1. "Water around the island for a distance of 300 yards from low water mark shall be restricted to naval use."

San Clemente island was acquired by the navy two years ago. Combat squadrons of the fleet use Pyramid cove, at the southern end of the island, as an overnight anchorage during gunnery and tactical training.

Spokesmen for the fleet denied having information on immediate plans other than establishing a small arms training range and improvement of the island airport.

School Bells Ring Again Here Today

Easter church bells gave way to school bells today, and thousands of Orange county school children went back to classes after a week of vacation.

Only one holiday remains on the official school calendar; Memorial day, May 31. Most schools will close June 11.

Santa Ana evening high school also will resume activities tonight, it was announced. New classes available for beginners at this time are gardening, gymnasium for women, and forge and welding work.

TOTAL COUNTY TAX ABOVE AVERAGE

Special District and School Levies Are Given Blame

Although Orange county has the third lowest county tax rate in the state, total taxes this year amount to $31.90 per capita, nearly one-fourth more than the average for the state.

The figures were announced today by The Tax Digest, publication of the California Taxpayers' association. Schools and special districts accounted for the higher cost.

Costa Mesa will get a county ordinance tomorrow regulating its parking, as requested by the chamber of commerce of that community.

Permission for the ordinance was granted last week by the state highway department.

Nineteen persons today are former motorists because of license suspensions last month in Orange county, it was revealed today in a tabulation of suspensions by the state department of motor vehicles.

WILL DECIDE OIL LEASE TERMS

County May Get Answer to Proposed Offset Plan Tuesday

Orange county may learn tomorrow whether it's to have an oil well, figuratively speaking, in its backyard.

The Hillman-Long company has been dickering with the county, and last Tuesday its representative promised the board of supervisors for an answer this week to the board's demand for better terms in a proposed lease.

Want Better Offset
The company wants a lease on the two and one-half acre site of the county insubinary near Anaheim. The organization already has leased 40 acres of surrounding territory.

A 200 offset margin bordering the county property was offered by the company, but the county wants a 500 foot offset. The idea behind this demand is that with a 500 foot offset is that bringing in of a well anywhere within this area would require the company to drill on the county's property or quit claim the property back to the county so it could drill or lease to another company.

Already Drilling
The Hillman-Long company already is drilling a well on the surrounding lease, but may not complete it unless it can get the county lease, it was explained by Attorney Robert T. Smith, representing the company.

He promised to present the county's demand to the company and report back this week. The board of supervisors meets Tuesday.

Discuss Guarding Bees From Poison

A proposed law to protect bees from poisonous sprays and dusts used in agricultural pest control was discussed at a meeting of agricultural inspectors at the county insectary at Anaheim Saturday.

Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs said today the sentiment expressed at the meeting indicated the inspectors feel the new law would throw a lot of extra work on the agricultural department, and that perhaps the matter could be handled in a simpler manner.

The amendment would require pest control operators to give 48 hours notice when they are to use materials with a poisonous residue. The commissioner would be required to mail out postcard notices to beekeepers within three miles of the proposed work.

Air Guns Signal Coming of Spring

Signs of spring: Kites, marbles and BB guns.

Air rifles got a little attention recently from Santa Ana police as spring filled the air and lead pellets began annoying householders.

A 13-year-old boy and his BB gun were taken to the boy's mother for parental discipline after the youth was caught by J. Skinner, 202 North Flower street, who had just had a window pane shattered.

Three boys were given an impromptu talk by Detective Hunter Leach after Mrs. Oma Arnold, 1301 South Van Ness street, reported they were shooting at street lights.

SMALL LAKES NOT COUNTY PROBLEM

District Attorney May Report Ruling to Supervisors

Property owners who have new lakes on their lands will have to drain them themselves, if they want to get rid of the water.

It is the opinion of District Attorney W. F. Menton that water which has collected on private property as a result of the heavy rainfall this season is not the county's problem, unless in certain cases county works have caused the water to run on the private land.

Start Pumping
A number of miniature lakes have formed on private property throughout the county. The soil is saturated with water and it does not seep through to the underground strata. Many farmers have already started to pump the water from the ponds into drainage systems.

The biggest lake created by the heavy rains is located at Newport and Tabert roads, and covers more than 10 acres with water about six feet deep. There are about 30 ponds of smaller size in the Costa Mesa district.

Demands Action
At Garden Grove, J. A. Knapp, chairman of the chamber of commerce flood drainage committee, has started a movement to correlate efforts for drainage of flood water, which came close to bringing heavy damage to the district. He has contacted the county road department, the state highway department and the Pacific Electric company to evolve a scheme for improved drainage.

When the board of supervisors meets Tuesday, it may ask District Attorney Menton for an opinion on the problem. It was said that the health department considers the ponds of water a menace to public health.

Marjorie Lauderbach Becomes Bride of Corona Man in Pretty Church Rites

Flowers of Easter at Altar

Bride and Groom Will Make Their Home in Corona

In a beautiful Easter setting in the First Presbyterian church at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, an impressive wedding service conducted by the Rev. Mr. O. Scott McFarland brought together in the bonds of wedlock Miss Marjorie Leona Lauderbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Lauderbach of 1805 Spurgeon street, and Walter Edward Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Blair of 1121 Palm avenue, Corona.

Against the background of greenery and white Easter blossoms and candles, the bride, in her gown of white satin trimmed in lace, made a lovely picture as she was given in marriage by her father.

Over her long dress, made on the long, flare lines of the spring mode, fell a tulle veil caught to her head with clusters of fragrant orange blossoms. In the veil, which was borrowed from an aunt, Mrs. Lyle Gorton of Durand, Mich., was embodied the "something old" of the wedding tradition; and "something borrowed" were a locket borrowed from Lorraine Sweet and a handkerchief from Jessie Strayhorn, the latter a college friend.

Her lovely bouquet was of bride's roses with a shower of orange blossoms.

Cousin Attends
Miss Alberta Greene, a cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. Wearing pale peach lace over a matching tulle slip, with a colonial bouquet in predominantly blue shades, she offered pretty contrast to the bride's dress; and the two bridesmaids, Misses Mary Lou McFarland and Roberta Tutthill, added another spring pastel shade with their dresses of apple green over a slip of the same color. Their bouquets, also in colonial mode, were of flowers in pink tones.

Tiny, two-year-old Sylvia Ranney, small daughter of the Kenneth Ranneys, was a dainty little flower girl, preceding the bride up the aisle in her crisp frock of blue tulle trimmed with pink.

Brother Best Man
Eugene Blair attended his brother as best man; and the four ushers were a brother of the bride, Leon Lauderbach, Jr., Robert Schroeder and Albert Chaney of Corona, and Harold Youel of this city.

The ceremony was preceded by a brief musical interlude, with Alan A. Revell at the organ, Whitford L. Hall, minister of music in the church, sang two solos, "Ich Liebe Dich," by Grieg, and "All for You," by Martin, with Mr. Revell accompanying. The latter also played the wedding marches.

The Easter theme and candlelight prevailed also in the Lauderbach home where a reception was held after the service, flowers and candles being all in bridal white. Smiles were spread along the mantelpiece and hung down over the fireplace, and the same greenery, intermingled with white blossoms formed a strip down the center of the dining room table where the bride cut her wedding cake.

Schooling in City
Though a native of Michigan, the bride has been a resident in Santa Ana most of her life, attending the local schools and graduating from the high school here. She also attended Santa Ana Junior college for one and one-half years, where she was affiliated with Las Meninas and Phi Theta Kappa. During the last year and a half she had been a student on the U. C. L. A. campus and a member of the Helen Matthews club.

The bridegroom, who is now circulation manager of the Corona Daily Independent, attended Corona High school and the University of Southern California.

Calvary Women Hold Meeting
The Women's Missionary society of Calvary church had an enjoyable session last week with a covered dish luncheon in Berean hall, and Mrs. John Sutherland presiding.

Mrs. Lewis Gail led devotionals, after which Miss Grace Pietsch of Los Angeles, and Miss Evelyn Schuman of Claremont were introduced. Both are leaving soon to do missionary work in Alaska. They told of their plans and experiences, and the society spent the afternoon sewing on quilts for them.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the day was headed by Mrs. Josephine Blood, assisted by Mrs. Errel Barnes and Mrs. Chester Tallman.

player of note, winner of several public parks tournament. She ranks eleventh among the players in Southern California.

Announcement of the betrothal of the pair was told just at the close of the Christmas holidays in beautiful formal tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Tutthill, parents of one of the bride's closest friends, who Saturday served her as her bridesmaid.

Since the announcement, friends have honored the popular Santa Ana girl at a series of gay affairs, among them many lovely showers of gifts for her trousseau and for the home she will establish in Corona.

Alice Nelson Is Saturday Bride

Among the brides choosing the Easter week-end for their wedding was Miss Alice E. Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Nelson of 442 South Broadway, Santa Ana, who, in an impressive ceremony Saturday evening at Spurgeon Methodist church, was united in marriage with James E. Van Schoick, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Van Schoick of 326 South Benton way, Los Angeles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional white bridal gown, made of taffeta on the flared lines of the prevailing mode.

Two Attendants

Her maid of honor was Miss Alberta Moritz of Santa Ana, and her bridesmaid, Mrs. LeRoy Levens. Both wore taffeta dresses, made in a style similar to that of the bride, Miss Moritz of pink and Mrs. Levens of yellow.

Robert U. Nelson, the bride's brother, was the best man, with William S. Lepper of San Pedro as an additional attendant for the groom. The ushers were Cameron Gillis and LeRoy Levens. Before the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Mr. C. M. Aker, pastor of the church, several solo songs were given by Mrs. Irma Baxter Owens and Darrell Gaebe, accompanied by Miss Hester C. Cameron Gillis and LeRoy Levens.

The Easter theme inspired the decorations both in the church and at the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held after the 8:30 service.

Reception Assistants

Mrs. Nelson, a navy triple sheer, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Van Schoick, in a dress of navy blue lace, joined the bride party in receiving the guests, and were assisted in serving by Betty Mae, Audrey, Virginia and Bonnie Nelson.

For departure on the honeymoon trip later in the evening, the bride donned a sport outfit with smart accessories.

Los Angeles is to be the home of the young couple, the bridegroom being associated with the Ducommun Metals and Supplies company in that city. The bride is a member of Phi Omega sorority in Santa Ana, and is an alumnae of Santa Ana Junior college. The bridegroom graduated from California Christian college in Los Angeles.

MRS. MORGAN IS PARTY HONOREE

Miss Vivienne Switzer complimented Mrs. Charles Morgan last week with a bridge party and shower of pretty gifts for her birthday. Spring flowers in the Switzer home at 711 South Birch street made an effective background for two tables of auction bridge and one table of "Amos 'n Andy," at which Mrs. Phillip Gerard and Miss Alice Whitten proved most proficient.

While Mrs. Morgan was unavailable as hostess, the party was presided over by Miss Ruth Switzer, sister of the hostess, sang two delightful solos, accompanied by her sister, and later an Easter dessert course was served. Mrs. Harry Switzer assisted at this pleasant task.

Guests of Miss Switzer were Mrs. Frank Mathys, Mrs. Cleland Harbaugh, Mrs. Phil Gerard, Mrs. Wilbur Merritt, and Mrs. Carrie Beck of Santa Ana; Mrs. Roy Peck, Pomona; Mrs. Elma Wray, Hollywood; Miss Alice Whitten, and Miss Ruth Switzer.

Jellis; Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery and daughter, Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and daughter, Joan; Miss Fern Lewis, a niece from Yakima, Wash., who is attending junior college here this winter, and Miss Stella Lusby, a school friend of Miss Lewis.

Family Party Celebrates Natal Day

Easter week brought with it the 93rd birthday anniversary of Mrs. Margaret Anderson of 117 Cypress street, who has lived at that address in Santa Ana since she moved here in 1912 from Oklahoma.

Although Mrs. Anderson has been a semi-invalid for the past six years, her anniversaries have been always found her spryly planning a party which would gather her grandchildren, nieces, and nephews around her, as well as her many friends.

Last Friday the relatives with whom she makes her home, who include Mrs. Reta Cash, Vera and Mary Cash, Mr. and Mrs. Sara Cash, and Mrs. Jennie Anderson, had planned a lovely family luncheon and informal at-home.

Lovely bouquets which had been sent by several of the guests decorated the table, around which were seated Mr. and Mrs. D. P. McBurney, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McBurney, and Ruth and Billy, Solon E. McBurney, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smiley, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Beall, Solon, David, and Beatrice Beall, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McBurney and Jean Estelle and Roberta, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Among these were the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Kelly and Mary and John, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Mrs. R. A. Cashion, Linda W. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. Ida E. Rice, William Hickman, Mrs. Bruce Gibson, and Miss Myra Gibson.

CLUB HUSBANDS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Roy Ivins, 1002 Cypress street, was hostess to her five hundred club Friday evening at her home. As a special diversion the group had decided to invite husbands to participate in their festivities, and the hostess had decorated her new home with a profusion of wild flowers and sweet peas.

After their evening of cards, first prize for ladies went to Mrs. John Baker, second to Mrs. Oscar Carothers, and low to Mrs. George Jarrett. Prizes for the men went to Forrest Gay, C. H. Hickman, and W. F. Eddy.

It's rather amusing at times to see the assorted mail that comes pouring out of the bag for Mary Stoddard. Sometimes there will be a raft of letters along one line, all with different viewpoints. FAREWELL IN MEXICO

"Vaya con Dios," old Pedro said. And he bowed for a moment his snowy head.

Then the carreta creaked 'neath its heavy load, And we left him there beside the road;

But the gracious words hung in the droopy air, Like a sigh of farewell, like a lingering prayer.

"Vaya con Dios," and all that day, An infinite peace on the landscape lay.

A haunting breeze murmured the words again, The solemn sea answered a deep "Amen."

And each languid mile that the oxen trod, Was filled with content as we went with God.

LA MISSION PERDIDA

Like a gaunt ghost haunting beside the road, Bowed with the years and their weary load,

Two moss-grown towers raise bleak on high Their palsied arms to the western sky.

The lizards dart through its gaping sides And on a gay arch where the laughing brides Tripped forth on young caballeros' arms,

Is tarnished and stripped of its ancient charms. It stands like a hoary and withered crone

Trembling at night to the west wind's moan. And the patio where the children strayed

Laughing and happy and unafraid, Is rubble strewn with the muck of years.

And bathed with many a padre's tears. The priests have passed on the wings of dawn

Bearing their cross and their message on To the Master who sent them here on earth...

But the west wind whispers of vanished mirth And moans through the palsied and upward raised hands.

By the ancient road where the Mission stands.

Lucille Dunn Is Easter Bride

White satin, in true bridal tradition, fashioned the formal wedding gown worn by Miss Lucille Dunn yesterday afternoon when she became the bride of Howard Gould in a lovely Easter afternoon ceremony in the First Presbyterian church of Tustin.

Given in marriage by her father, George Dunn, the pretty bride presented a lovely picture in the long dress made with a train and with a fingertip veil of white tulle. The veil fell softly around her shoulders from a halo of orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses centered with an orchid corsage.

Attending her as her matron of honor was a close friend, Mrs. Glenn Eustis, who wore a princess style dress of an apricot color; and Mrs. A. Hackleton. Attending the bride as bridesmaid was Mrs. Walter Limbaugh, Miss Mary Jane Belcher, and Mrs. Nelson Rogers, were all in blue organdy frocks with flowers in their hair and carrying pink rosebuds. Miss Julien Brown, a young niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and her dress and coronet of flowers were similar to those worn by the bride attendants.

Easter lilies and candlelight formed a lovely setting for the church rites, which were accompanied by organ music played by Mrs. A. Hackleton. The bridegroom as best man was his brother, Jack Gould, and the ushers were Raymond Carney, Thomas Glenn and Walter Limbaugh.

reception followed in the church parlors, the family gathering to greet the bride and groom to watch the bride cut her pretty white cake. Mrs. W. S. Rose and Mrs. Charles Leimer, the latter a sister of the bride, assisted in cutting the cake, and the bridesmaids

The bride's going away outfit, when they departed for a honeymoon, was a yellow and brown sport suit with luggage brown accessories. On their return, they will live in Santa Ana, the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gould of Tustin, being engaged with his father in ranching in this vicinity. The new Mrs. Gould is a native daughter of Santa Ana and a graduate of the local grammar and high schools. Mr. Gould also received his schooling in Tustin and Santa Ana, attending junior college here.

BAPTIST WOMEN'S BOARD

MORRISONS HOSTS AT REUNION

The newly completed recreation room in the home of Judge and Mrs. Kenneth Morrison was the setting for a happy gathering Saturday night of a group of friends who have made trips together a number of times in the past.

These gatherings have been frequent occurrences through the years, and at their pot-luck supper party Saturday night the members decided to make them of a monthly nature.

Mrs. Morrison had decorated the attractive room with flowers from their garden, and several informal diversions were planned for the guests. During the evening, Judge Morrison showed moving pictures taken last year on the trip he and Mrs. Morrison made to the silver fox farm at McKenzie.

In Saturday night's gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harwood, Sheriff and Mrs. Logan Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hockaday of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Peterson of Orange, and the host and hostess.

UNLIMITED VISION While it is true that through a powerful telescope astronomers can discern heavenly bodies which are farther away than those which are visible to the naked eye, it is only because of the magnifying powers of the telescope. Reduction by perspective due to distance and the obstruction of light rays makes man unable to see on into infinity. Yet his eye is capable of registering objects at any distance if they are sufficiently lighted and are large enough.

SMALLEST MEASURE OF WEIGHT In 1266 a statute was passed in England whereby 32 grains of wheat, taken from the middle of the ear, or head, and well dried, therewith constituted a penny-weight.

$1240 A DAY Appointed U. S. Minister to Russia by President Andrew Jackson, John Randolph sailed for his post in June 1830. He became so fed up with Russia and his job that he deserted it. On his return to the United States, Randolph drew $21,407 from the national treasury as payment for his ten-day service in Russia.

Tomorrow: Hell's Highway.

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Was there ever a streetcar conductor who called out the names of the streets so that anyone could understand him? RODNEY FARRAR. Herman J. Fishbein was so good he was hired as a radio announcer. But now they say he's only fare. STUMP.

Initial is Part of the Crochet

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

PATTERN 5819

Is your sofa or chair "out at the elbows"? Or does a brand new chair need protection at strategic points? In either case, this filet crochet chair set's the answer. The initial—yours—chosen from a complete alphabet, is pasted to the pattern, and worked right in as part of the crochet. Very easy, and gloriously inexpensive, when string is used for this set, or a pair of scarf ends. If you wish you can use the initials alone as insets for towels, pillow cases and other linens. In pattern 5819 you will find charts and directions for making a chair back 12x16 inches, 6x12, inch arm rests, a complete alphabet, each letter measuring 4 1/2x5 1/2 inches; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal, Household Art department. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Jail Break Games

WE WERE just a little dismayed the other day when we came on a group of small boys playing "jail break." Sticks became machine guns as the youngsters mowed down a group of "policemen" and escaped in a coaster wagon that became a toy "getaway" car.

We stopped to talk to the children. Curious and frightened by such hero worship of desperate criminals, we asked them where they learned such tactics.

They named a popular radio program that vividly relates the careers of infamous desperadoes.

The program supposedly carries on the war against crime. It failed in its purpose. These children could see nothing sordid in crime. They saw only excitement, danger and thrills.

Such radio programs are dangerous. The radio can be an instrument of education. But it should not teach such nonsense.

Supervise your children's selection of radio entertainment. Tell them that the Dillingers and Floyds did not have exciting, merry lives.

Teach them to despise such characters. Create for them heroes who lived clean, honest lives.

It may save heartaches later.

We are not sure where that rumor about a big new union depot for Santa Ana got started, but maybe those two passengers who got off here last month are responsible.

No Pay for the Duke

NO OFFICIAL salary for King Edward. From now on, he must live off the bounty of his royal relatives, according to the new civil list. Although many will claim this is an injustice to Edward, parliament had no other course to pursue, if it maintain the logic of its position.

Edward was forced to abdicate because he dared disobey the wishes of the government.

"If you marry Mrs. Simpson, you're fired," was, in effect, the edict of his employer.

Having discharged him for willful disobedience, parliamentary leaders could not very well keep him on the payroll. That would weaken the official position that it was wrong for Edward to marry the woman of his choice. Furthermore, keeping him on the civil list—the royal payroll—would be a constant reminder of his existence, something which official England would very much like to forget.

However, it is obvious that the "build up" of the coronation won't give it the glamor that attaches to the impending Edward-Simpson marriage. That, in the language of the day, is a natural.

Plants have memories, says a hothouse expert. Sure, the weeds never fail to come up in our lawn every spring.

The New State Prison

NOW that a satisfactory and unobjectionable site for a new state prison for first offenders has been found near Ontario (readers of this paper will remember the battle which was put up to keep it out of Orange county's rich coastal belt), the legislature should go ahead with the job.

A bill has been prepared by Assemblyman Martin of Los Angeles making two million dollars immediately available for a model new prison. This bill should pass both houses and lead to early action.

Plans for the new prison call for fields and truck gardens that would provide food for the prisoners and other state institutions and make the prison self-supporting, besides providing healthful work for the younger and less-hardened men who would be sent there.

A majority of the young men committed to state prisons are convicted in Southern California. Transporting them to San Quentin is wasteful, and that overcrowded institution is no place for them because segregation and useful work are impossible there.

There's a general shortage of houses in this country, but it's not nearly so acute as the general shortage of money.

The Flood Plan Goes Ahead

IT COMES as welcome news that the U. S. war department in Washington has given tentative approval to plans for Prado reservoir, the keystone project of Orange county's $15,000,000 flood control and water conservation program.

The Prado damsite is now up for final okeh, and if this is received, the big program may have safely cleared the major obstacle in the way of getting a $13,000,000 federal appropriation.

Orange county may once have been in doubt about the value of building a dam on the Santa Ana river. But those days have passed, we hope.

Recent storms and floods and the object lesson of Santiago reservoir with its $370,000 worth of stored-up rainwater should have an educational effect on everyone entitled to vote in the coming flood control bond election.

There is no question about some of those Italian soldiers remaining in Spain—dead men don't retreat.

Best Spot in the World

THE JOURNAL has always maintained that Orange county is an ideal location for highly specialized industries with large payrolls. It still thinks so.

And now Leonard DeMarcellon of Newport Beach says that his new gasoline-venting carburetor is to be manufactured here. Apparently Mr. DeMarcellon thinks so, too.

Hopeful headline: Our culture is not at its zenith.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Came news at breakfast that my wife's uncle, Capt. James Gatewood, at 89 had made a lone and sentimental journey to the Gettysburg battlefield upon which he was wounded, and it somehow missed our eyes. And so, penning long screeds to H. T. Webster and Jay Price, whom I like so much.

Out and by the Plaza to see Lorraine Manville and her new husband from Holland and a cut glass crowd there, asparkle with furs and jewels. Then a leisurely had down the avenue and Billy Gaxton gave me a tube of his new shaving cream and at Dutton's I got a copy of Maughan's new magnum opus, "Theatre."

Dined at Reuben's and talked to Arnold about the many stage people he knows. And home where news that Mike Hogg had reduced 42 pounds by a stay-behind diet regimen. Also some interesting rechauffe about happenings in London from Richmond Temple. So to bed.

Bernard Gimble probably keeps in best physical trim of the merchant princes. In New York he rides every morning, walks several miles a day and swings around the golf course at least twice a week. In the winter he goes to Miami Beach for a month, plays 36 holes of golf daily, does road work and enjoys a long swim in the late afternoon. One of his particular pals is Gene Tunney. Incidentally, Tunney still does road work and other exercises and is within a few pounds of the weight at which he last fought. Gimble's chest expansion, by the way, is the marvel of physical culturists.

No form of sport has had the sudden upshot in America of skiing. In three years it has become one of the oopsie-daisy diversions—especially among the fashionables. Perhaps the biggest impetus was given the ski craze by W. Averill Harriman's winter resort at Sun Valley, Idaho. Regarding as a doubtful experiment, it clicked from the start and attracted several hundred New Yorkers of headline importance. Every department store has a ski salon and there are a dozen ski shops. And a ski magazine.

Park avenue in high splendor: A Filipino chauffeur dressed like a Paramout usher driving a Rolls about four miles an hour close to the curb. Majestically walking on the pavement is a pocket-size Peke taking its constitutional and stepping high.

And Joe Cunningham writes that only in Beverly Hills will a gorgeous blonde wear a mink coat over slacks and drive up to an open front market in a car featuring a liveried chauffeur. And with a drawingroom air stroll up to the counter and order a pound of hamburger. Says he: "If you've guessed it's for the dog you are wrong."

A Waldorf waiter captain tells me that white and black bean soups continue their spurt of popularity. Until recently they were to be found only in the B-wery banerries or in the roustabout shacks of the waterfront. Once the Waldorf even served them only on special order, but now they are on tap regularly. They are favored by Manuel Quezon, Cole Porter, Will Hays and such. Prediction—some day a bold restaurateur is going to festoon his menu with these: pot liquor, turnip greens, corn pone. And then have to send for the reserves to handle the rush.

Too, the high-handshake attitude toward the onion has entirely vanished. At old Delmonico's those who ordered onion had to engage a private room, and garlic was completely taboo. What they call "a whisper of garlic" is permitted today in best places. And the lowly onion is smack on the menu. Onion soup is becoming almost a delicacy, even featured at the Colony. Long ago Robert Louis Stevenson, who knew food, observed: "The onion ranks with the truffle and the nectarine in the chief place of honor among the world's fruits."

Bagatelles: Steig is the youngest of the cartoonists, being under 30. . . Zerbe, the photographer, makes a handsome living photographing what is known as the "champagne set" in cafes. . . When Sinclair Lewis gets mental fog over a novel he clears the air by writing humorous skits for the lighter magazines. . . Bing Crosby's fling with race horses has set him back $300,000.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—One of the most significant barometers of war is the purchase of scrap iron and raw cotton. So much scrap iron was recently purchased in the United States by European countries and Japan that it clogged freight yards in some parts of the country and railroads temporarily refused further orders.

Thanks largely to foreign purchases, the price of U. S. cotton is the highest in seven years and even the government-held surplus has been largely sold.

Note—It is impossible to make steel economically without using a certain amount of scrap iron, hence its importance to munitions manufacture.

MODERN DIPLOMACY

Chilean Ambassador Trucco has been concentrating, not on diplomacy, but on a gadget which will tell him what time his children get home at night.

Trucco once was head of the Chilean State Railways, is a great engineer. Also he is a widower and father of one son and three daughters. So he undertook to design and execute, with his own hands, a signal board with four sliding panels, each bearing the name of one of the children.

The board hangs inside the front door of the embassy on Massachusetts avenue. When the young Truccos go out in the evening, he, the ambassador, pushes in the panels, each in turn slides the proper panel in. An electrical connection flashes each arrival to the ambassadorial bedroom upstairs.

When the last Trucco gets home, he, or most likely she, pushes in the fourth panel and turns out the lights.

REAL RECOVERY

On the wall of the office of Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, hangs a large board, a signal board with four sliding panels, each bearing the name of one of the children.

Line No. 1 represents the consumers or non-durable goods industries (food, clothing, etc.). It began to climb in 1933 and has been on the upgrade ever since.

Line No. 2 represents durable goods or heavy industry steel, building materials, machinery. It was hardest hit by the depression, lagged far behind even during most of 1936. By Line No. 2 is going almost straight up. By March 1, it had attained a level almost parallel with consumers goods.

ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE

This development is of the greatest economic significance. It means that for the first time since 1929, payrolls in the vital heavy industries are once again in a "normal" relation to payrolls in the consumer industries. In practice terms it means that for millions of workers in steel, machinery, auto, building material and railway equipment plants there is assurance of steady jobs at good pay.

The index figure of payrolls in the durable goods industries now stands between 97 and 99, or almost at the 1923-25 average which statisticians use as 100. These figures, it should be noted, represent the situation before the recent wage increases in steel and autos. When these are recorded at the end of the month, Lubin's heavy industry line may even go slightly above the 1923-25 "normal" level.

How phenomenal is this recovery is shown by the fact that the low point reached by the durables was 28 in the spring of 1933. Note: While payroll totals are up to normal, employment in the durable industries still lags. Its index is 90.2, in contrast to 97-99 for wages.

TRADE OPPORTUNITY

A U. S. trade commissioner in China recently sent the department of commerce a request from a troubled Oriental widower which read:

"Sir, I shall be highly thankful if you will kindly pass on to me the full information and address of those establishments in America who are well advanced in communicating with the departed souls and in supplying the photos of those departed ones, as I want to get the photo of my wife who expired very recently. Excuse me for the trouble."

The letter was filed under "trade opportunities."

SECRET AMBITION

Now it can be told—the secret ambition lurking in the breast of every senator. Chairman Henry Ashurst of the senate judiciary committee spilled the beans at one of the hearings on the President's court bill.

Dean Leon Green of Northwestern university law school was testifying in favor of the bill. Demanded Senator Tom Connally, an ardent foe, "Are you a candidate for the bench?"

"Some good friends have been kind enough to mention my name in that connection."

"Well, isn't it a fact," snapped Connally, "that your name is now pending before the justice department for an appointment to a federal court?"

With a loud rap, Ashurst banged his gavel.

"I will say to the witness," he observed, "that you can rest with equanimity. There is not a senator who doesn't yearn, feverishly yearn I may say, for a judicial appointment."

"But you turned down such an appointment," Senator O'Mahoney reminded Ashurst.

"True," replied Ashurst unabashed. "Nevertheless I repeat, there is not a senator who does not yearn for a job where he does not have to go before the people for re-election."

BRIGHT MOMENTS

Madame de Maintenon and Madame de Caylus were one day walking around the pond at Marley. The water was clear, and the ladies could see the carp slowly moving about. Madame de Caylus drew Madame de Maintenon's attention to the fact that the carp were seeking fresher water. "Ah," said the famous wit and writer, "The carp are like me; they regret their native mud."

What Other Editors Say

TEAGUE'S OFFER

C. C. Teague's offer of $5000 for the development of a better "smokeless" orchard heater to cure the smudge evil shows a commendable desire on the part of the citrus industry to take the lead in this necessary accomplishment. As head of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange Mr. Teague speaks for the great majority of the orange and lemon raisers.

This "smokeless" development if it comes, however, will be only the mechanical part of the matter. Even more complicated of solution is the human element.

On the market now are orchard heaters that are practically smokeless when they are treated right. But thousands of growers do not have this improved type. They still depend, in the absence of sufficient regulatory pressure, upon the smudge-producing makeshifts of old times, oil in open trenches and antiquated "smudge pots" when cold weather comes. They are the offenders, the smoke producers.

An incessant campaign to educate or cudgel these growers into a more up-to-date method of heating is even more necessary than the development of a better heater, as such.

In the end, the question simmers down to the problem of producing better and more law-abiding growers as well as better heaters.

F. L. McCollough, a mechanical research engineer of Tampa, Florida, has developed a new orange grading machine which grades by weight instead of size. Grading by weight is considered superior to grading by size, since a heavy wagon team could create a lot of excitement by staging a runaway down Main street.

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

What? A union depot for Santa Ana. What for? On the other hand we must keep up with the Joneses while in this case would be Los Angeles. As a companion progression I propose a mid-summer excursion service for the Santa Ana river.

Ranchers are beginning to estimate how long they can go without turning on the irrigation water. Some of the growers hope to get by until June. Others in May. The experienced ranchers, however, say that it all depends upon what kind of weather we have and the soil. If it's sandy the time limit will be abbreviated, if in heavy soil the moisture holds longer.

Santa Ana man gets a letter from an eastern correspondent in which he expressed the hope that California would get plenty of rain this season. A reply has been forwarded to the effect that that hope has been satisfied.

Frank Freeman has found out a way to beat the races. He says to take the score sheet, select your horse, pin you bets to the slip, place them in the cash register, and then take them out at the end of the season. He says you will be surprised how much money you have made off the horses.

HARPING BACK

Old-timers in all callings, I suppose, like to hark back to the good old days when things weren't like they are now. Some of 'em not only hark, but harp.

Forgive a little harping back to the days when newspaper reporters were fraternized only after working hours, and then chiefly for the delectable pleasure of rubbing salt in whatever wounds the day's tilting had inflicted on some tough-hided adversary.

No one ever accused me of being a too-brilliant news reporter, but I'll wager I could get from up and down the land a satchel full of testimonials to the effect that I was a diligent one.

It was a long time after I wore both a police and a deputy sheriff's badge on my belt, and after I had taken—and given—some vigorous scoops on various far-flung news runs, before any of the old-timers of that day and place hinted to me that all of our jobs could be made a lot simpler by merely dividing up the spoils and not run the risk of having a non-humorous city editor fail to see the joke when he read a big news story for the first time in the opposition paper.

Yes, I learned news reporting the hard way. Greenest of cubs, I went up against smart oldsters who, literally, could sit in their chairs at police station, courthouse or waterfront barge office, and scoop me blind. I learned soon that it amused them to do that very thing.

So, skating on thin ice, I skated fast. It wasn't too long until the oldsters had to get up out of their chairs once in a while to put over a whizzer. A little later they had to skate, too, to make sure the green cub didn't scoop them.

And by the time I was invited to join the sit-and-take-it-easy brotherhood, I couldn't, even if I had been so inclined. Couldn't stand the inaction. Drat! Heer be out turning over the chips and looking through the woodpile to see what I might find.

I've heard in recent years that some of the big city press rooms at city hall, courthouse, police and so on, are so well organized and turn over the chips and look through the woodpile to see what I might find.

All I know is that a lone wolf reporter's conscience is a ticket to a good night's sleep.
